

A home visitor can help get your family off to a winning start.

Pregnancy and parenting can seem like a game without any instructions. But if you put a home visitor on your team, you'll have a partner to support and guide you. A home visitor is a trained professional who will come to your home for free, scheduled visits. Telehealth visits are also available.

They can provide:

- Help and support for pregnancy and parenting
- Parenting information
- Information on topics such as:
 - + Child growth and development
 - + School readiness
 - + Improving health for parents and children
 - + Access to community services and support
